SUMMARY OF NOTABLE INCIDENTS

Civil Matter

On April 15th a Farmington business owner reported at the front desk that her business partner was trying to evict her from the business. The complainant advised that she had received an eviction notice from her business partner advising that she needs to vacate the premises or face eviction. The complainant advised that both she and her partner do not own the business, but rather lease the property from the land owner. The complainant was advised to consult with an attorney and to contact the police should her partner try to physically remove her from the property.
